

Native Spinach
Guinea Broilers
Damson Plums
Ripe Olives
Deerfoot Sausages
Head Lettuce
Fancy Celery

We guarantee our Melons
Somers Bros.

LADIES!

It is time to think of your Fur Repairs for the coming season.

We can alter or repair Scarfs, Muffs or Garments promptly and well if attended to early.

Our charges are moderate and we do the best of work.

McPHERSON,
Halter and Furrer.

DR. KIMBALL

has removed his office to 21 Broadway, Wauregan Block
Hours—2-4, 7-8 p. m. Sundays
2-4. Tel. 48.

UP-TO-DATE SHOES

In all leathers
$3.00, $3.50 and $4.00

FERGUSON & CHARBONNEAU,
Franklin Square.

Plenty of Places Are Open to graduates of the Norwich Business College, and every graduate is thoroughly qualified to fill a responsible position in the business world.

We fit young men and women for business careers and assist them to secure good positions.

Write for catalogue.

W. E. CANFIELD,

Principal.

Have You Returned Home?

We will be pleased to meet you at the Fanning Studios. Our line of

Wall Papers

is the finest ever. Also Lace Curtains, Shades, Draperies and Upholstery Goods.

31 Willow St.

Rose Bowling Alleys,

LUCAS HALL,

43 Shetucket Street.
J. J. C. STONE, Prop.

We Serve the Best

ICE CREAM and CAKE

in the city in our

Ladies' Grill

Room.

WAUREGAN HOUSE,

The Parker-Davenport Co., Props.

The Norwich Nickel & Brass Co.

Tableware, Chandeliers, Yacht Trimmings and such things Refinished.

68 to 87 Chestnut St., Norwich, Conn.

The Bulletin.

Norwich, Monday, Sept. 26, 1910.

VARIOUS MATTERS

Open cars were agreeable on Sunday.

D. A. R. year books are being issued.

Neosha Whist in Foresters' hall tonight—adv.

Apple buyers are making their rounds of eastern Connecticut farms.

Churches in a number of places observed yesterday as Temperance Sunday.

Several music lovers will go to Worcester this week for the music festival.

The next qualifying examinations for the theosophical scholarship will be held at the colleges in October.

The annual meeting of the State Business Men's association is to be held in Hartford on Thursday, October 20.

There is so much building at Ocean beach that it is possible the cars will continue to run on frequent schedule all winter.

The college year at Yale will open Thursday. Several of the local students will go to New Haven to settle their rooms.

It is now legal to hunt rabbits with a ferret and the demand for ferrets has been such since the law was changed that they are now selling for $4 apiece.

Examinations for teachers' certificates were held at the capitol Friday and Saturday. Candidates examined were from Naugatuck, Stafford Springs and South Manchester.

The September Telephone Bulletin, in its last call list for August, states Norwich had 10.5 toll line and 12.8 long distance, as compared with 11.0 and 13.1 in August, 1909.

The Meriden Journal noted that Friday was the birthday of Rev. Arthur Truman Randlett, for thirty years rector of St. Andrew's church, who was born in Poquetanuck, the son of a clergyman.

Mrs. William P. Little, 91, the oldest resident of Colchester died at her home there Sunday from heart disease after a short illness. Mrs. Little has been a resident of the town 63 years and leaves four sons.

Referring to the coming triennial reunion of the eastern and western branches of Niagara university alumni, the Catholic Times, Stamford, Conn., states that the reunion will be held at the Center Congregational church in Hartford. All branches are privileged to send delegates and friends.

On Friday evening, October 21, Rev. Bishop Nolan will conduct a class at St. Mary's church. At 9 o'clock on Saturday morning, the 22d, he will administer the sacrament of confirmation to a class in St. Patrick's church.

The state federation executive board met Friday in New Haven at the home of Mrs. E. L. Curtis, Trumbull street. The principal business was the plans for the annual convention, which will be held in Danielson October 26 and 27.

At South Coventry over Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. A. Crutcher and family were guests of Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Barber at the Spring Lake farm, as were also Mr. C. E. Douglas and son, who went out in the latter's new auto. Mr. Sarah A. Burdick, who has been spending three weeks with her sister, returned with them to Norwich.

A parish note in Christ Church Review says: A late parishioner, who bequeathed to our parish one thousand dollars in order that the rest of the family pew might be guaranteed in years to come and her mother's name be in memory of her, has been indicated one very beautiful and helpful way in which bequests for the support of the parish may be made.

Free ice water will still be dispensed on the trains of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad, but all drinking cups and glasses, beginning October 1, will be dispensed with on account of the passage of a sanitary law to that effect in Massachusetts. The new rule on the trains will have paper drinking cups for sale, which may be had by paying five cents.

From the gospel read in the mass on Sunday, the 19th after Pentecost, Matt. xxiii:2-14, Rev. Joseph J. O'Connell preached yesterday at St. Patrick's church. Catholics believe that the parable of the fig tree, "and of the king's son typifies the Real Presence, the mystical banquet, which the preacher admonished his hearers not to neglect for the business and the pleasures of the world.

Very Low Colonist Rates

Via Nickel Plate Road, to Washington, Oregon and far Northwest, daily, Sept. 14 to Oct. 14, and to California and far Southwest, daily, Sept. 30 to Oct. 14. Finest tourist sleepers. Write L. E. Burgess, N.E.P.A., 212 Old South Bldg., Boston, Mass.—adv.

PERSONAL

Mrs. Irene G. Holmes has returned from a five weeks' vacation.

Miss Helen B. Spencer of Wallingford is visiting friends in Norwich.

Miss Maud Chapman of Ekono was at her home here for the week end.

Earle L. Sparks passed Saturday and Sunday with friends in Attawapung.

Miss Hannah Buckley has returned from Norwich after a month's visit at Fishers Island.

Samuel Johnson of New Haven was the guest of his son, Henry D. Johnson, over Sunday.

Mrs. William Dyson of West Philadelphia is visiting Mrs. James Coffey of Laurel Hill avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Christopher Avery, new of Groton, are making a trip to New Hampshire today, going by automobile.

Charles W. Pearson attended the meeting of the executive committee of the Swedish-American club at New Haven Saturday evening.

Teodil Hickey and family returned Saturday after a trip of two weeks in Canada, during which they made the St. Anne de Beaupre pilgrimage.

Louis Chamansky of New York, Adolph Chamansky of Bridgeport and Louis Plant of Denver, Col., were the guests of R. C. Plant over Sunday.

Mrs. John Cook of Hartford, Mrs. Etta Watson of North Franklin and Mrs. Carrie Abell of Lebanon, were the guests of Mrs. Will Loomis of Prospect street, last Friday.

Mrs. Dwight A. Lyon and daughter, Miss Harriet Lyon, returned to their home in New Jersey Saturday, after spending several weeks with relatives and friends in this vicinity.

Home from Virginia.

Latham E. Mosher and sister, Miss Ida E. Mosher, have returned from a ten days' trip to Richmond, Va., having covered the distance both ways between New York and Richmond by bus.

SECOND CHURCH OBSERVES 150TH ANNIVERSARY.

Epic of the Church, the Sunday Morning Theme of Rev. H. J. Wyckoff—Union Service in Evening with Greetings from Four Other Churches—Other Exercises—Reunion to be Held Tonight.

Unbounded interest was manifested in the celebration of the 150th anniversary of the founding of the Second Congregational church, which opened Sunday with special services. Large congregations were present morning and evening, while the Sunday school and Christian Endeavor meetings also had many in attendance, the day being indeed one for the observance. Many were present from out of town.

The platform was attractively decorated with autumn foliage and

With his theme The Epic of the Church, Rev. H. J. Wyckoff took as his text Sunday morning Except the Lord build the house, they labor in vain.

In the opening he referred to the delightful location of the town and its discovery and settlement by Mason, the settlement first being up town and later at the landing. All was a mastery work in blank verse and continued as follows:

The Divine Suggestion of Spiritual Needs.

So Chelsea grew and prospered, and threw in its bulk and its substance.

Tolled with diligence six days, and holding with reverence the seventh: Strict in adherence to duty, whether it called to the warehouse,

Or urged on the Lord's day to worship with those who remained in the old town.

Pleasant Mill-Lane seemed to children who walked Sabbath-sober along it. In summer, or stealthily picked at the snow-burdened boughs in the winter.

Longer the way seemed to elders, and even more long to the aged. When summer suns vertical smote them, or winter's blasts drove in their faces.

Often they thought of the holding of such Sabbath worship at Chelsea: Doubtful still whether the notion were holy suggestion, or evil—

The will of the Lord for his people, or lure of old Satan's temptations: Till spoke Jabez Dean, the good captain, in the midst of the people assembly:

"Since the Spirit of God hath directed the founding and building of Chelsea, And Providence prospers our plan with a permanence not lightly shaken, Let us seek to amass with our substance the morials that honor a people; And set as a pledge to the future, wherein lies prosperity's blessing. A pact to keep faith with Jehovah, a house consecrated to his service."

Instant approval was thundered, and Dean was made embassy special To find in the school of the prophets a man who should minister to them. A room set apart in Trapp's tavern, their earnestness hallowed for worship: A drum of a scaffold behind it gave warning when meeting convened.

Soon came Elijah, the prophet, one Lathron from Windham close by them. The rest of the long list of seers who, looking on things that are not seen, Have sought to interpret them truly to those from whom vision is wrested. In the hot strife of martyr's day by day: a figure that shone for a moment. And faded away like the brief dream that death when daylight approaches.

John Curtis came next to the vineyard, and yielded his office to Cleveland. But God had not yet set his own man whose heart should be knit to this people.

In permanent bonds of affection. Nothing disheartened, the small rock Loavely gathered each Sabbath, with psalm and with strong supplication. Till God heard their cry, and appointed Nathaniel Whitaker pastor. Eager the people awaited the coming of him whom God sent them.

REV. HERBERT J. WYCKOFF.

flowers, together with ferns and potted plants. Special exercises were sung by both services by the quartette of the church, in excellent voice, while at the evening service a bass solo, "Combs' A Thousand Shall Fall at Thy Side," was beautifully given by Walter E. Lester.

Previous to the sermon, which was given in blank verse and appears in the adjoining column, the pastor, Rev. H. J. Wyckoff, read two letters of greeting from the only two living ex-pastors, Rev. C. W. Morrow and Rev. Dr. L. L. Waugh.

The anniversary hymn, written for the occasion by John Troland, was sung following the sermon and brought many words of commendation to the author.

At the session of the Sunday school Supr. Larabee had arranged to have a number of the ex-superintendents speak, and among those who were present were Mr. Allen, Owsen, Nathan A. Gibbs, Joseph D. Haviland and Henry D. Johnson.

All referred to the great influence the school has been and the great part such an organization plays in a community. This is the oldest in the city and in a way representative of its 150th anniversary. The school was congratulated on its numbers today, and the pastor, Rev. H. J. Wyckoff, said that the school was the greatest of the church.

The anniversary hymn, written for the occasion by John Troland, was sung following the sermon and brought many words of commendation to the author.

At the session of the Sunday school Supr. Larabee had arranged to have a number of the ex-superintendents speak, and among those who were present were Mr. Allen, Owsen, Nathan A. Gibbs, Joseph D. Haviland and Henry D. Johnson.

All referred to the great influence the school has been and the great part such an organization plays in a community. This is the oldest in the city and in a way representative of its 150th anniversary. The school was congratulated on its numbers today, and the pastor, Rev. H. J. Wyckoff, said that the school was the greatest of the church.

The anniversary hymn, written for the occasion by John Troland, was sung following the sermon and brought many words of commendation to the author.

At the session of the Sunday school Supr. Larabee had arranged to have a number of the ex-superintendents speak, and among those who were present were Mr. Allen, Owsen, Nathan A. Gibbs, Joseph D. Haviland and Henry D. Johnson.

All referred to the great influence the school has been and the great part such an organization plays in a community. This is the oldest in the city and in a way representative of its 150th anniversary. The school was congratulated on its numbers today, and the pastor, Rev. H. J. Wyckoff, said that the school was the greatest of the church.

The anniversary hymn, written for the occasion by John Troland, was sung following the sermon and brought many words of commendation to the author.

At the session of the Sunday school Supr. Larabee had arranged to have a number of the ex-superintendents speak, and among those who were present were Mr. Allen, Owsen, Nathan A. Gibbs, Joseph D. Haviland and Henry D. Johnson.

All referred to the great influence the school has been and the great part such an organization plays in a community. This is the oldest in the city and in a way representative of its 150th anniversary. The school was congratulated on its numbers today, and the pastor, Rev. H. J. Wyckoff, said that the school was the greatest of the church.

The anniversary hymn, written for the occasion by John Troland, was sung following the sermon and brought many words of commendation to the author.

At the session of the Sunday school Supr. Larabee had arranged to have a number of the ex-superintendents speak, and among those who were present were Mr. Allen, Owsen, Nathan A. Gibbs, Joseph D. Haviland and Henry D. Johnson.

All referred to the great influence the school has been and the great part such an organization plays in a community. This is the oldest in the city and in a way representative of its 150th anniversary. The school was congratulated on its numbers today, and the pastor, Rev. H. J. Wyckoff, said that the school was the greatest of the church.

The anniversary hymn, written for the occasion by John Troland, was sung following the sermon and brought many words of commendation to the author.

At the session of the Sunday school Supr. Larabee had arranged to have a number of the ex-superintendents speak, and among those who were present were Mr. Allen, Owsen, Nathan A. Gibbs, Joseph D. Haviland and Henry D. Johnson.

All referred to the great influence the school has been and the great part such an organization plays in a community. This is the oldest in the city and in a way representative of its 150th anniversary. The school was congratulated on its numbers today, and the pastor, Rev. H. J. Wyckoff, said that the school was the greatest of the church.

The anniversary hymn, written for the occasion by John Troland, was sung following the sermon and brought many words of commendation to the author.

At the session of the Sunday school Supr. Larabee had arranged to have a number of the ex-superintendents speak, and among those who were present were Mr. Allen, Owsen, Nathan A. Gibbs, Joseph D. Haviland and Henry D. Johnson.

All referred to the great influence the school has been and the great part such an organization plays in a community. This is the oldest in the city and in a way representative of its 150th anniversary. The school was congratulated on its numbers today, and the pastor, Rev. H. J. Wyckoff, said that the school was the greatest of the church.

The anniversary hymn, written for the occasion by John Troland, was sung following the sermon and brought many words of commendation to the author.

At the session of the Sunday school Supr. Larabee had arranged to have a number of the ex-superintendents speak, and among those who were present were Mr. Allen, Owsen, Nathan A. Gibbs, Joseph D. Haviland and Henry D. Johnson.

All referred to the great influence the school has been and the great part such an organization plays in a community. This is the oldest in the city and in a way representative of its 150th anniversary. The school was congratulated on its numbers today, and the pastor, Rev. H. J. Wyckoff, said that the school was the greatest of the church.

The anniversary hymn, written for the occasion by John Troland, was sung following the sermon and brought many words of commendation to the author.

At the session of the Sunday school Supr. Larabee had arranged to have a number of the ex-superintendents speak, and among those who were present were Mr. Allen, Owsen, Nathan A. Gibbs, Joseph D. Haviland and Henry D. Johnson.

All referred to the great influence the school has been and the great part such an organization plays in a community. This is the oldest in the city and in a way representative of its 150th anniversary. The school was congratulated on its numbers today, and the pastor, Rev. H. J. Wyckoff, said that the school was the greatest of the church.

The anniversary hymn, written for the occasion by John Troland, was sung following the sermon and brought many words of commendation to the author.

At the session of the Sunday school Supr. Larabee had arranged to have a number of the ex-superintendents speak, and among those who were present were Mr. Allen, Owsen, Nathan A. Gibbs, Joseph D. Haviland and Henry D. Johnson.

All referred to the great influence the school has been and the great part such an organization plays in a community. This is the oldest in the city and in a way representative of its 150th anniversary. The school was congratulated on its numbers today, and the pastor, Rev. H. J. Wyckoff, said that the school was the greatest of the church.

The anniversary hymn, written for the occasion by John Troland, was sung following the sermon and brought many words of commendation to the author.

At the session of the Sunday school Supr. Larabee had arranged to have a number of the ex-superintendents speak, and among those who were present were Mr. Allen, Owsen, Nathan A. Gibbs, Joseph D. Haviland and Henry D. Johnson.

All referred to the great influence the school has been and the great part such an organization plays in a community. This is the oldest in the city and in a way representative of its 150th anniversary. The school was congratulated on its numbers today, and the pastor, Rev. H. J. Wyckoff, said that the school was the greatest of the church.

The anniversary hymn, written for the occasion by John Troland, was sung following the sermon and brought many words of commendation to the author.

At the session of the Sunday school Supr. Larabee had arranged to have a number of the ex-superintendents speak, and among those who were present were Mr. Allen, Owsen, Nathan A. Gibbs, Joseph D. Haviland and Henry D. Johnson.

All referred to the great influence the school has been and the great part such an organization plays in a community. This is the oldest in the city and in a way representative of its 150th anniversary. The school was congratulated on its numbers today, and the pastor, Rev. H. J. Wyckoff, said that the school was the greatest of the church.

The anniversary hymn, written for the occasion by John Troland, was sung following the sermon and brought many words of commendation to the author.

At the session of the Sunday school Supr. Larabee had arranged to have a number of the ex-superintendents speak, and among those who were present were Mr. Allen, Owsen, Nathan A. Gibbs, Joseph D. Haviland and Henry D. Johnson.

All referred to the great influence the school has been and the great part such an organization plays in a community. This is the oldest in the city and in a way representative of its 150th anniversary. The school was congratulated on its numbers today, and the pastor, Rev. H. J. Wyckoff, said that the school was the greatest of the church.

The anniversary hymn, written for the occasion by John Troland, was sung following the sermon and brought many words of commendation to the author.

At the session of the Sunday school Supr. Larabee had arranged to have a number of the ex-superintendents speak, and among those who were present were Mr. Allen, Owsen, Nathan A. Gibbs, Joseph D. Haviland and Henry D. Johnson.

All referred to the great influence the school has been and the great part such an organization plays in a community. This is the oldest in the city and in a way representative of its 150th anniversary. The school was congratulated on its numbers today, and the pastor, Rev. H. J. Wyckoff, said that the school was the greatest of the church.

The anniversary hymn, written for the occasion by John Troland, was sung following the sermon and brought many words of commendation to the author.

At the session of the Sunday school Supr. Larabee had arranged to have a number of the ex-superintendents speak, and among those who were present were Mr. Allen, Owsen, Nathan A. Gibbs, Joseph D. Haviland and Henry D. Johnson.

All referred to the great influence the school has been and the great part such an organization plays in a community. This is the oldest in the city and in a way representative of its 150th anniversary. The school was congratulated on its numbers today, and the pastor, Rev. H. J. Wyckoff, said that the school was the greatest of the church.

The anniversary hymn, written for the occasion by John Troland, was sung following the sermon and brought many words of commendation to the author.

At the session of the Sunday school Supr. Larabee had arranged to have a number of the ex-superintendents speak, and among those who were present were Mr. Allen, Owsen, Nathan A. Gibbs, Joseph D. Haviland and Henry D. Johnson.

All referred to the great influence the school has been and the great part such an organization plays in a community. This is the oldest in the city and in a way representative of its 150th anniversary. The school was congratulated on its numbers today, and the pastor, Rev. H. J. Wyckoff, said that the school was the greatest of the church.

The anniversary hymn, written for the occasion by John Troland, was sung following the sermon and brought many words of commendation to the author.

At the session of the Sunday school Supr. Larabee had arranged to have a number of the ex-superintendents speak, and among those who were present were Mr. Allen, Owsen, Nathan A. Gibbs, Joseph D. Haviland and Henry D. Johnson.

All referred to the great influence the school has been and the great part such an organization plays in a community. This is the oldest in the city and in a way representative of its 150th anniversary. The school was congratulated on its numbers today, and the pastor, Rev. H. J. Wyckoff, said that the school was the greatest of the church.

The anniversary hymn, written for the occasion by John Troland, was sung following the sermon and brought many words of commendation to the author.

At the session of the Sunday school Supr. Larabee had arranged to have a number of the ex-superintendents speak, and among those who were present were Mr. Allen, Owsen, Nathan A. Gibbs, Joseph D. Haviland and Henry D. Johnson.

All referred to the great influence the school has been and the great part such an organization plays in a community. This is the oldest in the city and in a way representative of its 150th anniversary. The school was congratulated on its numbers today, and the pastor, Rev. H. J. Wyckoff, said that the school was the greatest of the church.

The anniversary hymn, written for the occasion by John Troland, was sung following the sermon and brought many words of commendation to the author.

At the session of the Sunday school Supr. Larabee had arranged to have a number of the ex-superintendents speak, and among those who were present were Mr. Allen, Owsen, Nathan A. Gibbs, Joseph D. Haviland and Henry D. Johnson.

All referred to the great influence the school has been and the great part such an organization plays in a community. This is the oldest in the city and in a way representative of its 150th anniversary. The school was congratulated on its numbers today, and the pastor, Rev. H. J. Wyckoff, said that the school was the greatest of the church.

The anniversary hymn, written for the occasion by John Troland, was sung following the sermon and brought many words of commendation to the author.

At the session of the Sunday school Supr. Larabee had arranged to have a number of the ex-superintendents speak, and among those who were present were Mr. Allen, Owsen, Nathan A. Gibbs, Joseph D. Haviland and Henry D. Johnson.

All referred to the great influence the school has been and the great part such an organization plays in a community. This is the oldest in the city and in a way representative of its 150th anniversary. The school was congratulated on its numbers today, and the pastor, Rev. H. J. Wyckoff, said that the school was the greatest of the church.

The anniversary hymn, written for the occasion by John Troland, was sung following the sermon and brought many words of commendation to the author.

At the session of the Sunday school Supr. Larabee had arranged to have a number of the ex-superintendents speak, and among those who were present were Mr. Allen, Owsen, Nathan A. Gibbs, Joseph D. Haviland and Henry D. Johnson.

All referred to the great influence the school has been and the great part such an organization plays in a community. This is the oldest in the city and in a way representative of its 150th anniversary. The school was congratulated on its numbers today, and the pastor, Rev. H. J. Wyckoff, said that the school was the greatest of the church.

The anniversary hymn, written for the occasion by John Troland, was sung following the sermon and brought many words of commendation to the author.